Harum Manis
Indonesian Restaurant

The name “Harum Manis” is derived from a sweet cotton candy that is native to Indonesian and is popular among children for its crispiness and sweet flavor. Harum Manis takes advantage of the rich Indonesian heritage in the interior and architectural design of the restaurant. As the restaurant’s interior attempts to maintain a look that is traditionally Indonesian, designers enhanced the typically dark and bold Javanese characteristics with a lighter and airy contemporary twist.

The Restaurant inherits various characteristics of classic Indonesia furniture design. It applies a natural color scheme of white and creme to interior, as well as a little touch of blue which is believed to help protect the environment from harmful elements.

Rooms

The restaurant’s entrance welcomes you with a large wooden door similar to those used in Keraton Jogjakarta. Inside, a visual feast consisting of all natural color and elegantly sectioned rooms with unique personalities awaits.
